2022 OPERATION STAFF

KIM JOSEPH COUSINS
President/ CEO

Timothy J. Sheridan
Mayor, City of Lake Elsinore

School District, Haley Munson from Elsinore Valley Municipal Water District, Dave McElroy from Main Street Candy Bar, Tina Breeze from Elsinore Barber and Beauty and many others as well. Thank you.

I am also proud of what we have brought to the Council meetings. First, on President's Day 2022, we were treated to a special presentation on the Richard Nixon Library and Museum - a gem of a historical site not too far from Lake Elsinore. We also brought young people from Lake Elsinore to Council meetings. We did so by recognizing their accomplishments in sports, including the Lake Elsinore Little League and Lake Elsinore Girls' Softball, including LEGS'10u team that won the state tournament. It was great having the players, and their parents, coaches and volunteers experience a little of what we do at Council.

I'm also very grateful for Alex Teahen from the City Manager's Office who has worked hard to bring my vision of Film LE to fruition. Film LE is a program that will enhance Lake Elsinore as a filming destination for movies, television, and commercials in the coming years. This could not have happened without Alex's work and the support of my colleague, Council Member Steve Manos, and City Manager Jason Simpson, among others. Thank you!

Let me also say a very special thank you to Kim Cousins of the Chamber of Commerce. His support this year has been invaluable to me. Thank you, sir!

I would also like to share a few key project updates with you. A few weeks ago, we held a ribbon cutting ceremony for the Lake Community Center renovations project, which was first opened in 1990 as the City's first Senior & Community Center. The 8,000 square foot facility is located near the heart of Downtown and has offered sports, recreational classes, senior activities, and after-school programs for over 30 years. Improvements include expanded office space, a new lobby service counter, and ADA improvements.

Another project that I'm excited to share involves our gem - Lake Elsinore itself. Last month, we kicked off a long-term project focused on improving the Lake's water quality and health, which has historically faced unique ecological challenges as the largest natural freshwater lake in Southern California. As stated in the Dream Extreme 2040 plan, protecting, enhancing, and celebrating the Lake is critical to our city's and our community's health, and this project is an excellent example of staff searching for innovative ways to improve the water's health. The pilot study that we have implemented is the result of a Prop 1 grant and will evaluate the efficacy of four different algal treatments, three of which can be seen under observation near Launch Pointe's fishing dock right now.

Additionally, there are several events I am looking forward to attending before the year ends. First is the long-time favorite, Trunk or Treat, which will take place on October 14th from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Main Street. The following day, Mariachi Fest will kick off Day of the Dead celebrations at Diamond Stadium. The mega concert will bring Grammy award-winning musical lineups to Lake Elsinore. Continuing the celebration, Studio395 and the Downtown Merchants Associations are bringing Dia De Los Muertos back to our Historic Downtown on October 29th. This is a free cultural event featuring traditional music & dance, artists, vendors, crafts, food and altars.

We are also looking forward to the 2022 State of the City on October 20. Join me to learn more about our current and future efforts, and to gain insight on the trajectory of our City. For more information, please visit the Chamber's website.

In November, we will continue our tradition of honoring our veterans at the City's annual Veterans Day Observance Ceremony on Friday, November 11th at Diamond Stadium. During the ceremony, we will unveil this year's newly engraved bricks and honor the valiant men and women who served our Country. If you would like to honor a veteran with a brick, each cost $85 and the deadline to purchase one is October 7th. On Saturday, November 12th, we will also host the second year of Taco Fest, which is a free family event at McVicker Canyon Park from 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Come enjoy tacos, cold drinks, live entertainment, vendors and so much more!

Finally, we will end this year with our signature holiday event, Winterfest, on December 3rd in Historic Downtown. The event will once again feature a community parade, light show, and special visit from Santa Claus.

Lastly, I want to wish everyone a wonderful holiday season as we look toward the new year. I encourage you to show your support this holiday season by shopping and dining in Lake Elsinore, and by exploring one of the many new shops on Main Street, at the Outlets, or around our City.

Thank you,

Timothy J. Sheridan
Mayor - City of Lake Elsinore

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

SWCLC Southwest California Legislative Council

The Southwest California Legislative Council has been hard at work as the 2022 Legislative Session came to a close last week. A flurry of last-minute bills passed the California State Legislature before the August 31st deadline, and Governor Newsom now has until September 30th to act on hundreds of bills awaiting his signature or veto.

Just weeks before the end of the session, Governor Newsom unveiled his latest climate package, which he urged legislators to pass by the end of the month. The SWCLC opposed Governor Newsom's climate package, both on policy and procedural grounds. Together, his proposals will cost taxpayers $130 billion, 8,000 jobs, and add $50,000 to a cost of a home. The legislature successfully passed five of the six bills within Newsom's climate package, including legislation that will codify the state's existing goal of carbon neutrality by 2045, ramp up requirements for clean energy, and establish a regulatory framework for carbon removal and carbon capture. The legislature also approved Newsom's prohibition on new oil and gas developments within 3,200 feet of sensitive areas, essentially banning new oil and gas developments throughout most of California. Governor Newsom proposed these initiatives within the final weeks of the legislative session, meaning they bypassed regular legislative procedures. They passed without in-depth vetting or debate through the proper committee approval processes.

The legislature also passed AB 257, which will increase costs and create a new state-wide board that will have unprecedented power to write its own labor and employment laws for fast food restaurant employees. This bill will raise prices at counter-service restaurants and hurt working families struggling to cover food costs because of rising inflation costs. Governor Newsom has already signed the bill into law.

It's not all bad news, though! We successfully defeated AB 2840, a job killer with an oversized effect on our region. The bill would have banned the construction of new warehouses, developments, and logistics hubs of 100,000 square feet or larger within 1,000 feet of areas labeled sensitive receptors, essentially stopping the construction of new logistics centers completely. While its author pushed to resurrect the bill at the last minute through the gut-and-amend process, our efforts ensured the bill did not see the light of day. We also worked hard to defeat bills that would have imposed new burdens on employers to accommodate uncapped protected leave for employees, dramatically increased health insurance premiums, and allowed proprietary equipment and trade secrets to be shared with the public.

As always, we invite you to attend the Southwest California Legislative Council meetings, now back to in-person meeting the 3rd Monday of every month at the Southwest California Association of Realtors offices in Murrieta. Contact your local Chamber of Commerce for more information.

THE LAKE ELSINORE HOUSING JOURNAL

ADAM A. RUIZ FOR THE SOUTHWEST RIVERSIDE COUNTY ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS®

Welcome to another edition of the REALTOR® Report! This month's keywords are Recession, Inflation, and Interest Rates. You can't turn on the news or open a newspaper without hearing or reading these words in a headline. So what exactly does that mean for our housing market, and more specifically, the housing market in Southwest Riverside County?

Economically speaking, we have entered our 2nd quarter of negative GDP, which usually signifies a recession. However, does that mean we're in a housing recession? Sure the number of sales has dropped, and days on market and inventory have increased, but the median home prices have also increased. You can see those figures later in the report. What was once a booming seller's market has quickly cooled/corrected and is now headed towards a neutral market. Houses initially priced based on sales just a few months ago are most likely experiencing price reductions. However, houses that have been priced correctly are still selling relatively quickly, although not quite as fast as the previous few months. A housing recession would generally see an increase in foreclosures, but thankfully we're not seeing a lot of those types of properties hitting the market. The amount of earned equity and qualifying mortgage factors are why we don't see a flood of foreclosures in our communities. So while some figures in my report appear negative, I don't believe we are in or headed into a housing recession.

Inflation and Interest Rates almost go hand in hand. There is no doubt that inflation is affecting everyone, and that includes prospective buyers. Mortgage rates have also increased in the previous few months, leading to some buyers no longer qualifying for their loans. The Fed's increased the interest rate again last week, and it's already forecasted that they could raise rates again as early as next month. However, it's important to note that Fed rates and mortgage rates are not the same. In fact, mortgage rates actually decreased when the last Fed rate increase happened. So it's essential to work closely with your lender and fully understand what impact, if any, the fed rate has on your current mortgage rate.

My words of advice? If you are selling your home, work with your REALTOR® and price your home based on today's market, not the market from a few months ago, or trying to compete with what your neighbor sold their house for. If you are a buyer, double-check that you're still pre-approved. If you were trying to buy just a few months ago and lost out to cash offers or those buyers willing to pay over the appraised value, now is your time! The competition isn't as fierce, and you don't have to feel so pressured into making the first offer you can. But remember, it's not quite a buyer's market, so you still need to make a competitive offer. If you are a REALTOR®, educate your clients! Help them understand as the market shifts, and don't forget about the buyers you may not have been able to help earlier in the year.

The median home price in Southwest Riverside County was down 6% from a month ago ($580,000/$615,000), but was up 5% from a year ago ($550,000), and up 33.3% from 2 years ago ($435,000). Unsold inventory increased again to just under 4 months (6 months is considered a healthy market), and days on market increased again from last month to 14 days. This is up from 6 days last year and actually higher compared to 10 days 2 years ago. Unit sales dropped again, down 25% from the previous month and 37% from last year. This is the lowest number of sales in 1 month since I started this report in March 2021. Unsold inventory continues to increase, up 33% from last month and 107% from last year. While the increase in inventory is a good thing, we are far from where we need to be. Once again, median prices are up in all but one of our local cities. Once city saw a decrease of 3.2%, while the remaining cities all ranged in an increase of 2.4%-13.6% Year-Over-Year. The percentages have decreased, but median prices continue to increase across the region.

The Chief Economist of the National Association of REALTORS® recently gave a presentation on the housing market nationwide. Much of his presentation mirrors what we see locally. He commented that foreclosures currently make up 1% of the market, and even as the economy tightens, he doesn't predict foreclosures will top 2% of sales for the remainder of the year. This is again due to the gap between the value of the home and the mortgage amounts owed. He predicts that 2022 will end with a dip in unit sales and an 11% increase in home prices. 2023 would have a flat year in sales and a slight home price increase of 2%. I have included a few of his slides at the end of my report for your review.

If you'd like a copy of my entire report including the mentioned slides, or to be added to the distribution list, please email me at Adam@srcar.org.

THE 10 WARNING SIGNS OF AFIB

Recognizing these signs of AFib and stroke can potentially save your life.

An arrhythmia is an irregular or abnormal heartbeat. Atrial fibrillation, or AFib, is the most common type of arrhythmia in adults, causing the heart to beat too quickly. During AFib, an abnormal firing of electrical impulses within the heart causes the top chambers of the heart, called the atria, to quiver or fibrillate (beat very fast).

Having AFib increases your risk of having a stroke. In fact, the risk of stroke in people with AFib is about five times higher than in people who don't have AFib. That's why it's important to know if you have this serious heart condition so it can be treated. Some people who have AFib have no symptoms and don't even know they have the condition. It may be found when a doctor listens to the heart with a stethoscope or when some type of cardiac test is performed, such as an electrocardiogram, echocardiogram, stress test or holter monitor. Others may experience symptoms but may not recognize that they are associated with AFib. The symptoms may occur frequently or only occasionally. They may also come and go

Warning Signs of AFib

Many symptoms of AFib may be similar to other heart-related issues, including a heart attack. If you suspect that you are having a heart attack, especially if you have chest pain or pressure, call 911. Otherwise, if you have symptoms of AFib, let your doctor know.

- Palpitations
the heart may feel like it's racing, fluttering, pounding, thumping or beating irregularly
- Chest pain, pressure or discomfort
- Dizziness, light-headedness or faintness
- Shortness of breath
- Fatigue or lack of energy
(in general or while exercising)
- Weakness • Sweating
- Anxiety • Confusion

Since AFib increases your chance of having a stroke, it's important to recognize the warning signs of stroke if you have AFib. Time is of the essence if a stroke occurs, and the faster you get to the hospital, the better the chance that doctors can provide treatment that may improve your recovery and could even save your life.

Stroke warning signs typically appear suddenly, are more apparent on only one side of the body and may include:

- Face weakness:
one side of the face may droop or become numb
- Arm or leg weakness:
one arm or leg may be weak or numb; arm may drift downward if raised; it may be difficult to walk
- Speech difficulty:
speech may be slurred or hard to understand; the person may not be able to speak or repeat simple sentences; it may be difficult to understand other people's speech
- Confusion
- Dizziness, loss of balance or lack of coordination
- Difficulty seeing out of one or both eyes

What to Do If You Have Symptoms

If you suspect you may have AFib, or have any symptoms of the condition, talk to your doctor. Treatments are available, including medications, surgery and options such as cardioversion therapy. The goal of treatment is to control the heart rate, manage the heart rhythm and prevent blood clots from forming that may lead to a stroke.

However, because symptoms of AFib can often overlap with those of a heart attack or stroke (both of which require time-sensitive treatment), call 911 immediately to get to a hospital ASAP if you are concerned that AFib may be occurring along with a heart attack or stroke.

This message is brought to you by Southwest Healthcare System and the hospital campuses of Inland Valley Medical Center and Rancho Springs Medical Center.
