OFFICE OF THE MAYOR CITY OF LAKE ELSINORE
MAYOR NATASHA JOHNSON NEWSLETTER

Dear Lake Elsinore Community,

As the sun-kissed days of August roll on, let's seize the opportunity to bask in the glory of summer and etch unforgettable memories into the tapestry of our lives. Our City is a treasure trove of outdoor wonders, with parks and recreational havens just waiting to be explored. So, why not indulge in the joy of the great outdoors, soaking up the sun and creating priceless moments with those who matter most?

The remaining summer days hold promises of adventure, relaxation, and shared laughter. Let's embark on spontaneous picnics, challenge each other to friendly games at our local parks, or stroll along the shimmering shores. These moments become the stories we recount with joy – a tapestry woven from the threads of togetherness.

While we revel in these summer delights, let's also prepare for the next chapter in our journey – the return of our bright young minds to school. At the beginning of the academic year 2023-2024 in the Lake Elsinore Unified School District. To all the students, parents, guardians, educators, and school staff, I send my heartfelt well-wishes for a fantastic start to this new adventure of learning and growth.

A special note of appreciation goes to the dedicated heroes behind the scenes – our remarkable teachers, administrators, and support staff. Your dedication throughout the summer months to ensure a seamless transition for our students is inspiring. Your efforts light the path of education, and for that, we are deeply grateful.

As we embrace the sun-soaked days and gear up for the school year, let's remember that our collective spirit makes Lake Elsinore shine.

Together, we celebrate the big and small moments that shape our beloved community's narrative "ELSINORE STRONG".

With warmth and gratitude,

Mayor Natasha Johnson

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

SWCLC Southwest California Legislative Council

As we move into September, we near the end of the legislative calendar. We're only a few weeks away from the September 14th deadline for both houses to pass bills before they can move to the Governor's desk for action.

Upon the legislature reconvening after their summer recess, we tracked the rapid movement of many bills that became inactive or in suspense, transferred to a 2-year pathway, and those that have moved forward in the committee process.

To date, SWCLC has taken positions on 52 bills that affect local businesses, including labor issues, minimum wage for the healthcare industry, paid sick leave, setbacks for new construction, water infrastructure and much more. A full list of our current positions can be found on our website at www.southwestca.org.

There are a few bills we're still concerned with this year that are likely to be heard in the next few weeks and advanced to a final floor vote. Two that we're most concerned with are SB 616 and SB 525. SB 616 adds 4 additional days of paid sick leave, from three days to seven days, to all employees. For employers with small businesses, this increase will not only be more expensive, but will make scheduling more difficult. SB 525 raises minimum wages for healthcare employees to $25/hr. A few major problems- first, picking an industry and singling out wage policy is bad enough, and it will make healthcare much more expensive. We're fighting to stop these and others as we get to the finish line.

In the 'good news' category is SB 399 from Senator Wahab- the bill has stopped for the year and is now a 2-year bill. SB 399 would make it essentially illegal for employers to discuss important matters with employees- like public policy and legislation. On this issue, we will continue to monitor and be prepared to take action during the next legislative calendar.

In August, we monitored the progress of a new bill regarding unemployment insurance eligibility. Now with an official bill number, SB 799 would allow striking workers to claim unemployment. With more people drawing from an already bankrupt UI fund, the current $18 billion UI fund debt will increase. That money needs to be paid back and will be done by raising premiums on all employers. We're opposed to adding to the number of people who can draw from the UI fund, especially with the fund's deficit.

After the September 14th deadline, bills go to the Governor's desk to be signed or vetoed. We'll have a rundown of new legislation in our next article.

As always, we invite you to attend the Southwest California Legislative Council meetings to receive crucial updates. There are just two remaining meetings this year, September 18 and October 16 at the Southwest California Association of Realtors offices in Murrieta. Meetings are at 11:30am. We hope to see you there. Contact your local Chamber of Commerce for more information.

THE LAKE ELSINORE HOUSING JOURNAL

ADAM A. RUIZ FOR THE SOUTHWEST RIVERSIDE COUNTY ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS®

Welcome to another edition of the REALTOR® Report! After two consecutive record-setting months, things cooled off a bit in July. Unit sales were down, as was the median price for Southwest Riverside County. However, I definitely wouldn't panic or assume the worst yet. Low inventory is still keeping the market competitive, even with the higher interest rates. Many homes continue to generate multiple offers at or above the list price. But it's not the same as it was just a couple of years ago. While the marketplace is competitive, buyers are not waiving contingencies or gapping sales price vs. appraised value like they were before. While this creates competition for buyers, sellers should not expect crazy offers over list price, as we saw a couple of years ago. It all comes down to working with a knowledgeable REALTOR® and setting realistic expectations.

Last month I reported a pause in the Fed's raising interest rates, but that was very short-lived. The Fed's bumped the federal rates another 0.25% at the end of July and indicated that there could be further increases this year. The Chief Economist for the National Association of REALTORS® shared his frustration with this recent hike as inflation is steadily calming down, with more deceleration on the way as wages and rents moderate. He offered his forecast for future rates, which I have included on one of my slides.

Let's take a closer look at the numbers for our region from July 2023.

The median home price in Southwest Riverside County decreased for the first time since January by 6% from the previous month ($580,000/$615,000) and is flat from one year ago ($580,000). Comparing the median price to where it was 2 years ago, it has increased by 5.5% when the median price was $550,000. Unsold inventory remained at 3 months (6 months is considered a healthy market), and the median time on the market was flat, remaining at just 12 days. This is down from 14 days last year and significantly higher than 2 years ago when it was just 6 days. Unit sales dropped by 18% from last month and are down 12% from last year. Unsold inventory increased from the previous month by 9% but is significantly down from last year, with a decrease of 40%. Median prices remained relatively flat in our local cities, with a total median price variance from -6.0% to 6.8%.

Our Chief Economist continues to forecast a dip in home sales (resale and new construction) but believes it will bottom out at year-end, with sales picking back up in 2024.

As for a legislative update, we're at the tail end of the summer recess, so there is nothing new to report. However, there are still a lot of bills that need to be addressed. Our elected officials, lobbyists, and my colleagues will be very busy all the way to the September 14 deadline for each house to pass bills.

It's a fairly light report this month, and with the busy schedule ahead, I'm not complaining. If there is something that I may have addressed before that you need specific updates on, please feel free to contact me.

I hope I have covered everything that affects you and your business. Please let me know if I left anything out or if you need anything explained further.

As always, I am available if you have any questions about the report. Until next month...

7 TIPS FOR SAFELY WORKING OUT IN THE HEAT

If it's hot and humid outside, here's how to get your workout in without feeling sick.

The heat is on! But does that mean your workout needs to be put on hold? No way! There's no doubt that you'll have to take some precautions or make a few adjustments if you're planning to exercise when temps and humidity soar, but if you're smart about it, there's no reason you need to skip your workout during the dog days of summer.

Here are 7 tips to help you enjoy your workout more safely and comfortably:

• Stay hydrated.

One of the biggest threats to working out in high heat is dehydration. Make sure you drink up before, during and after your workout. Although water is always the best way to stay hydrated, you may need to sip on a sports drink that contains sodium, potassium, and other electrolytes if you're working out for more than 60 minutes or are going especially hard.

• Take a cool shower before you begin.

Start off feeling comfortable by dipping into a cool shower and leaving your hair wet. Your wet hair will help keep you cooler, at least at the beginning of your workout.

• Don't forget sunscreen.

The heat isn't the only thing you need to worry about. Sunburn can ruin your workout, too. Apply a broad-spectrum sunscreen with an SPF of 30 or higher shortly before working out. Choose one that is waterproof, so it stays on even when you start to sweat.

• Dress for the weather.

Wear light-colored clothing made from sweat-wicking material. Cotton can also help you stay cooler since it is breathable. Avoid dark colors that can absorb the heat of the sun.

• Change your timing.

Early morning or later in the evening are typically the coolest times of the day to exercise outdoors. Try to avoid the midday sun and heat when possible. Choosing a day when the breeze is blowing, the clouds are abundant or there's even some rain falling are ideal outdoor workout days in the summer.

• Find a new location.

You may love exercising outdoors, but sometimes it's just not worth it. If the temperature is too high, it's very humid, the air quality is poor or you find that the heat gets to you or compromises your performance, take your workout indoors. This can be the safest way to exercise in the heat.

• Listen to your body.

You may feel that it's okay to sweat and that you're immune to heat-related illness, but that thinking can be dangerous. Although a little sweat never hurt anyone, take a break if you begin to feel dizzy, nauseous, weak, or tired. If you experience muscle cramps, a headache or feel off in any way, stop what you're doing and get out of the heat. Drink lots of fluids and find a place where you can cool down. Continuing to push your body can lead to serious heat-related illness that can quickly become a medical emergency.

This message is brought to you by your friends in healthcare at Southwest Healthcare, which operate Inland Valley Hospital in Wildomar and Rancho Springs Hospital in Murrieta. For a free physician referral, call 1-800-879-1020.
