OFFICE OF THE MAYOR CITY OF LAKE ELSINORE MAYOR STEVE MANOS NEWSLETTER

Dear Residents of Lake Elsinore,

As we bid farewell to the past year, I am filled with gratitude for the remarkable work of outgoing Mayor Natasha Johnson. Her dedication and service have laid a strong foundation for our community, and I am honored to step into the role, eager to pick up where she left off.

Lake Elsinore holds a wealth of possibilities, and I am excited about the potential that the coming year brings. Our City staff has been hard at work planning numerous special events in the months ahead. If you've never had the opportunity to join a community event, now is the perfect time. These gatherings are not only enjoyable but also essential for fostering a sense of unity and connection among us.

One of my goals for this year is to meet and connect with more residents of our beautiful city. Your input and perspectives are invaluable, and I believe that by working together, we can make Lake Elsinore an even stronger and more vibrant community.

In the upcoming year, our community is set to embark on a journey marked by numerous transformative projects that will undoubtedly shape the future of Lake Elsinore. Among these initiatives are the construction of our new City hall, strategic updates to our general plan, and the implementation of a comprehensive lake management plan.

These endeavors symbolize our commitment to progress and development, as we strive to enhance the overall infrastructure and well-being of our City. The construction of a new City hall stands as a testament to our dedication to providing state-of-the-art facilities that cater to the evolving needs of our residents. This project not only represents a physical structure but also signifies a focal point for civic engagement and community collaboration.

Furthermore, the updates to our general plan are designed to ensure that our City's growth aligns with the changing dynamics of our community. This comprehensive planning effort takes into account various aspects, including land use, transportation, and environmental sustainability, to create a blueprint that guides our development in a thoughtful and sustainable manner.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to the Lake Elsinore Valley Chamber of Commerce for their outstanding partnerships over the past year. Their collaboration has been instrumental in the success of our community, and I look forward to continuing to work closely with them. Together, we aim to attract even more new businesses, contributing to the prosperity and growth of Lake Elsinore.

As we embark on this new chapter, let's embrace the opportunities that lie ahead. Lake Elsinore is a community of strength, resilience, and boundless potential. I am excited to serve you and work together to make our City an even better place to live.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year!

Warm regards,

Steve Manos
Mayor of Lake Elsinore

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

SWCLC Southwest California Legislative Council

At the end of 2023, the Southwest California Legislative Council scorecard reviews our local legislators, legislation outcomes, and what to expect in the next year.

We took positions on 58 bills. Unfortunately, when considering legislation, we typically oppose more than we support, and this year is no different for our business community. Thankfully though, many of the bills we opposed did not move to the final floor vote. So, when we look at the number of votes the Senate and Assembly each took on our positions, there were 31 votes in the Senate and 27 in the Assembly on bills where SWCLC took a position.

In the Assembly, Asm. Essayli and Asm. Sanchez were with us over 93% of the time, while Asm. Jackson has room for improvement only aligning with SWCLC on 21% of our positions. In the Senate, Sen. Seyarto and Sen. Ochoa-Bogh were with us over 85% of the time while Sen. Roth voted with SWCLC positions 48% of the time.

So- what are the new laws? The biggest changes ahead are in employment law- AB 524 changed rules for family caregiver status, expanding the definition of who is considered family for allowing time off to care for health issues. SB 616 changes mandatory sick time off from 3 days to 5 days statewide. AB 525 raised the minimum wage for healthcare workers. And AB 1228 raised the minimum wage and changed rules for the fast-food industry, which was a compromise from the industry and labor that averted a referendum vote on AB 256 from 2022 that would have appeared on the Nov 2024 ballot. There will also be new requirements for companies to report climate impacts under SB 253 and climate financial risk reporting with SB 261. SWCLC opposed all of these bills mentioned. We did support Sen. Roth's SB 75 that provides new judgeships to Riverside County to build the CARE court program, a program that will help get people off the streets and into treatment.

But not everything passed- SB 584, the 15% tax on short-term rentals failed. A water bill that would require the state to consider having a long-range water plan (SB 366) also failed. AB 6 and 7, two bills that would have impacted the state's ability to expand roads and infrastructure by creating an even more burdensome permitting and project selection process both failed. Unfortunately, a change in employment policy that would have allowed for employers to voluntarily give preference to veterans (SB 73) also failed.

The full legislative scorecard for 2023 is available on our SWCLC website www.southwestca.org.

Looking ahead, we still have 16 bills that are designated as two-year bills, including AB 1000, the warehouse setback bill that has in one form or another been opposed by SWCLC for the last 4 years. Those bills must be out of their house of origin by end of January, and we'll be engaging prior to that deadline. New legislation for 2023 is due in February and SWCLC will keep an eye on bills as they are submitted. There is also talk of a significant budget deficit for 2024 emerging, larger than 2023, so we'll be weighing how that affects key legislative proposals as well.

For 2024, we have made some adjustments to our calendar to better align our meetings with the legislative calendar. Our 2024 schedule is: Jan 22, March 11, April 15, May 13, June 10, August 12, and Oct 7th. We meet at 11:30am at the Southwest California Association of Realtors offices in Murrieta. Contact your local Chamber of Commerce for more information or visit our website www.southwestca.org.

THE LAKE ELSINORE HOUSING JOURNAL

ADAM A. RUIZ FOR THE SOUTHWEST RIVERSIDE COUNTY ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS®

Welcome to another edition of the REALTOR® Report! As of the date of this report, the REALTOR® brand has featured a lot in the media, and not everything is positive news. A verdict was issued in a Missouri case that named the National Association of REALTORS®, among other defendants, and media outlets and social media have been taking jabs at REALTORS® ever since. While I won't get deep in the weeds on that topic, I will address it shortly.

As for some good news, the Feds once again paused raising interest rates, which led to some minor relief coming into the first week of November. Also, in anticipation of next week's announcement of the 2024 conforming loan limits, lenders have started accepting conforming loan amounts up to $750,000, with the potential for even higher limits after the official announcement. Hopefully, both offer some assistance to those looking to purchase homes soon.

One question I get asked often is why are sales so slow right now? I have reported that we have a severe shortage of available homes, and even with all of the locally planned new construction, we are well behind the curve when it comes to building enough homes. However, there is another, much simpler reason. The record low interest rates from the past few years have essentially locked those owners into their current homes. Think about it: why would you leave your +/- 3% interest rate in exchange for today's mid-7 % range? You wouldn't unless you had to. So those owners who in another market may consider relocating purely out of desire aren't leaving, thus adding to the inventory shortage. Sure, if you are being relocated or have another significant reason to move, you will, but it's not what might be considered a typical turnover rate of homes.

Let's take a closer look at the numbers for our region from October 2023. The median home price in Southwest Riverside County had a slight improvement, up 1% from the previous month ($585,000/$580,000) and improved by 4% from one year ago ($560,000). Comparing the median price to where it was 2 years ago, it has increased by 8.7% when the median price was $538,000. Unsold inventory is sitting right around 4 months, getting closer to the 6 months that is considered a healthy market. The median time on the market was up to 16 days, down from 25 days last year but up considerably from 2 years ago when it was just 9 days. Unit sales did increase 8% from last month but are down 5% from last year. Unsold inventory also increased from the previous month, with a 9% increase, but remains significantly down from last year, with a decrease of 36%. Median prices expanded the range in price in our local cities, with a total median price variance from -16.4% to 10.5%.

Since the legislative session is done for the year, there's not much to report. As done every year, the Southwest California Legislative Council has finalized its report card on the bills we tracked and how each of our elected officials voted on those bills. I am including the scorecard in this report and can provide more details to anyone who requests more detailed information.

Let's talk about the verdict, as mentioned earlier, against the National Association of REALTORS®. This was a class action lawsuit in Missouri that involved plaintiffs raising questions about how commissions are paid. The jury sided with the plaintiffs and awarded damages of $1.8 Billion. This significant figure is why the case is making headlines. Unfortunately, the headlines also paint horrible pictures about REALTORS® and our industry. The verdict is being appealed and will likely take years to finalize. However, its impact has been felt nationwide and warrants this brief report. For the most part, transactions will remain the same here in California. There may be additional disclosures and new explanations of commissions, but business should continue as normal. One of the biggest challenges is demonstrating the value of a REALTOR® and understanding the crucial role they play in a transaction. For far too long, REALTORS® have downplayed the challenges of their day-to-day activities, resulting in a skewed perception of their value. Since the audience of this report is not all within the industry, I am sharing a document of 179 things that REALTORS® do during a typical transaction. I encourage my REALTOR® audience to utilize this tool and my non REALTOR® audience to realize how much value a REALTOR® brings to the table. This case is far from over and relatively complicated, so if you would like to discuss it in further detail, please reach out to me.

Even though we are heading into the holidays and the end of 2023, things remain busy. I hope I have covered everything that affects you and your business. Please let me know if I left anything out or if you need anything explained further.

As always, I am available if you have any questions about the report. Until next month...

WOULD YOU RECOGNIZE THESE WARNING SIGNS OF STROKE?

There may be warning signs before a stroke occurs. Here's how to spot them and what to do.

Most people think that a stroke simply appears out of the blue, with no warning. But is that always true?

Although you may not always be able to predict that someone is about to have a stroke, sometimes there are warning signs that may occur before a stroke happens. Being able to recognize these impending signs of stroke may make it more likely that you can prevent a stroke, or at least recognize when one is occurring right away. That's important because getting immediate medical attention can make a big difference in recovery after a stroke.

Warning Signs Before a Stroke Occurs

Not everyone has symptoms before a stroke happens, but in some cases, you may notice these signs:

• A TIA.

A transient ischemic attack, called a TIA or mini stroke, occurs when blood supply to part of the brain is briefly interrupted. Symptoms resemble a stroke but usually stop quickly and don't cause permanent damage. It is estimated that about one-third of people who have a TIA will have a more severe stroke in the future. If you have a TIA, don't ignore it just because symptoms go away quickly. See a doctor because it is a sign that there is an underlying problem that may result in a stroke.

• A severe or new type of headache.

Not everyone gets a headache before a stroke, but if you have a severe headache, or one that is different than headaches you usually have, it may be a sign of an impending stroke. One study found that 15 percent of participants who had an ischemic stroke (a stroke caused by a blockage in a blood vessel in the brain) had an unusual headache that started within 7 days of the stroke and typically lasted until the stroke occurred. These headaches were more likely to occur in people who had atrial fibrillation. If you have an unusually severe headache that doesn't go away, see a doctor.

Warning Signs of a Stroke

Getting medical treatment as quickly as possible after a stroke occurs can make a big difference in recovery from stroke. The most effective treatments must be administered within 3 hours of when symptoms begin. That's why it's so important to be able to recognize the signs of a stroke.

There are the most common signs of stroke. Symptoms usually come on suddenly.

Numbness or weakness in the face, arm, or leg (especially on only one side)

Trouble speaking or understanding speech.

Difficulty seeing in one or both eyes.

Dizziness, balance problems or trouble walking

Severe headache with no known cause

Confusion

If you think someone may be having a stroke, ask them to do these 3 things:

• Ask them to smile. You may notice one side of their face droops.

• Ask them to raise both of their arms. You may notice one arm drifting downward.

• Ask them to repeat a simple sentence. You may notice their speech is slurred or doesn't make sense.

What to Do If You Suspect a Stroke

If you notice any of these signs of stroke in someone, call 911 immediately. There is no time to waste. By calling an ambulance rather than driving the person to the hospital, medical personnel can begin life-saving treatment right away. Also make a note of when symptoms first started because the timing of stroke onset may be very important in deciding what types of treatment are available.

This message is brought to you by your friends in healthcare at Southwest Healthcare, which operate Inland Valley Hospital in Wildomar and Rancho Springs Hospital in Murrieta – Advanced Primary Stroke Centers. For a free physician referral, call 1-800-879-1020.
